

Don't search for defining moments,
because they will never come.
The moments that define you,
have already happened.
And they will already happen again.

Peter Dinklage